KMK Attorney to Lead International Panel Discussion on
*"When Different Cultures Meet:
Mastering Cross-Cultural Considerations in International Business and Dispute Resolution"

Kohner, Mann & Kailas Shareholder Robert L. Gegios has been invited to moderate a high-profile program before lawyers from across Europe and the United States discussing the challenges posed by cultural differences in international commerce. The panel will offer important insights into how cross-cultural challenges in international business dealings can be identified and either surmounted or turned to the client's advantage.

With the increase in international commerce, and the growing recognition by businesses that success in international commerce requires cross-cultural adeptness, transactional lawyers and business litigators alike are increasingly required to be cross-culturally adept if they are to advance their clients' interests effectively.

The program is part of the first-ever ABA Section of Business Law Global Business Law Conference, taking place in Frankfurt, Germany.
